MAN 2021. Principles of Management

Prerequisites: GEB 1011 or GEB 1136 or ECO 2013 or ECO 2023

This course is a study of the essentials of operational management and how to apply these principles in the dynamic world of business. It covers the functions of management through a basic understanding of planning, organizing, staffing, directing and controlling. This course will study traditional and e-business operations.

MAN 2300. Introduction to Human Resources Management

This course is an overview of the field of human resource management. The role of the human resources department will be emphasized with particular attention being focused upon the importance of the supervisors and executives. This course will discuss business in the traditional and the electronic environment.

MAN 2934. Selected Topics in Management

For students interested in discussion, exploration and observation of special topics in management. Multiple credit course. May be repeated for a maximum of 9 credit hours but grade forgiveness cannot be applied.

MAN 2941. Internship Exploration in Business (Management)

This course is a planned work-based experience that provides students with supervised career exploration activities and/or practical experiences. Each earned credit of internship requires a minimum of 80 clock hours of work. Multiple credit course. May be repeated for credit, but grade forgiveness cannot be applied. (Internship Fee: $10.00).

MAN 3240. Principles of Organizational Behavior

Prerequisite: Admission to the B.A.S. degree in Business and Organizational Leadership

This course provides students with an overview of the concepts of individual, group, and organizational behavior so they may envision how they will fit into organizations and be successful in leadership roles. Students will develop an understanding of the foundations of Organizational Behavior through the self-discovery of their own personalities, preferences, abilities, and learning styles. Students will apply skills such as motivation, goal setting, and decision making processes to work scenarios/situations with an emphasis on understanding how personality, values, and attitude impact the culture and productivity of an organization.

MAN 3353. Management Theory and Practices

Prerequisite: Admission to the B.A.S. degree in Business and Organizational Leadership

This course provides students with an overview of the concepts of individual, group, and organizational behavior so they may envision how they will fit into organizations and be successful in leadership roles. Students will develop an understanding of the foundations of Organizational Behavior through the self-discovery of their own personalities, preferences, abilities, and learning styles. Students will apply skills such as motivation, goal setting, and decision making processes to work scenarios/situations with an emphasis on understanding how personality, values, and attitude impact the culture and productivity of an organization.

MAN 4120. Leadership Challenges and Supervision
